

Cinema Speakeasy is proud to present a special double screening of our newest, edgiest shorts program yet: 'Relationship Therapy for the Modern Human'

Decidedly not for the squeamish (or the prudish) these shorts examine love in all its facets: How it works, how it's lived, how it starts, how it ends, how some of us may have just decided to sod it all and commit our hearts to... well... more original things. Hey, it takes all types to make up our world. We're not judging.

On Saturday October 15th, we'll be screening the program at 8PM in LA at Space 15 Twenty in Hollywood, CA. Come early for some Umami Burger and lèche-vitrine at Urban Outfitters' experimental and shop-alicious courtyard of cool.

Then, on Sunday October 16th, grab your homies and homegirls and drive, walk or bike over to the hippest swim club and hotel we know to help us launch our first Palm Springs screening, and our newest collaboration - with the legendary Ace Hotel & Swim Club.

The program starts at sundown, and we promise it'll be the perfect way to cement the mutual adoration that you KNOW has been budding all day between you and that hottie in the red trunks sitting two cabana chairs over. To close the deal, Ace's mixologists will be whipping up love-related alcoholic potions at special rates, and of course the food at their amazing diner (King's Highway) is delicious.

So come watch some brilliant and sometimes shocking films – twice! - and help us raise a glass to love, lust or hate. Whichever it is that floats your boat.
